

Country Director, South Sudan

Location: Juba (with travel throughout the country)

Travel: 25-30% domestic, and some global travel

We believe in a world in which every human life is valued, and health and human dignity are shared by all.

We believe that access to quality healthcare is a basic human right. For more than 100 years, we have worked with global partners to deliver locally sustainable, quality healthcare solutions to women, children and their communities. We're ready to make it 100 more.

We believe change starts with her.

We work tirelessly for women's and children's health because they are disproportionately affected by illness and poverty. We know that healthy, educated, and empowered women are better able to raise healthy, educated, and confident children, and that communities depend on their livelihoods. We're making an impact – learn more.

We believe in people.

We strive to live out our core values of collaboration, love, excellence and respect every day. We provide our employees with a competitive salary and a meaningful benefits package, with opportunities to learn and grow. We especially encourage all persons of diverse backgrounds to apply. Read more from our President & CEO below.

Organizational Overview

CMMB is a leading faith-based NGO focused exclusively on global health care for the world's poor, by building healthy, sustainable communities through community engagement and partnerships. Now entering its second century, CMMB is committed to integrating and focusing its programming around saving the lives of children and mothers by concentrating on leading causes of mortality in targeted communities.

Building around a new CHAMPS (CHildren And Mother PartnershipS) model, CMMB will work at both the community and clinical levels in these targeted communities to strengthen health services and address the leading causes of maternal and child death. In addition, CMMB will expand its volunteer program to provide medical and business expertise for community development, and will engage with the pharmaceutical industry to help meet the needs of CHAMPS communities and in other areas of need.

CMMB is committed to learning and evolving in order to successfully achieve impact in its strategy, and will have strong vertical and horizontal team structures in alignment to the global strategy to encourage accountability, communication, and effective project management.

Role Overview

CMMB has been working in South Sudan for almost 10 years. CMMB works to ensure that the most vulnerable populations, especially mothers and children, have access to quality services in health care, health promotion and illness prevention. The role of South Sudan Country Director is responsible for the overall leadership and management of the CMMB South Sudan country portfolio. CMMB's current portfolio in South Sudan includes: maternal and child health, CMMB's CHAMPS programs, and a variety of HIV/AIDS focused programs, which are funded from bilateral and multilateral grants/contracts, contributions from private individuals and institutions, volunteers, and gifts-in-kind of medical supplies.

We are looking for an innovative thinker, who is ready to empower staff to achieve CMMB's strategic goals, and lead change initiatives to ensure CMMB maximizes its mission and vision. You will direct the implementation of all aspects of CMMB South Sudan's programs, in partnership with the global staff of CMMB, ensuring the quality and impact of its health program in South Sudan. You are well-versed in office restructuring and able to oversee changes to program operations, finance, and human resources.

You will report directly to the Senior Vice President, Programs and Volunteers who is based in New York City, and you will also receive technical and other support from additional U.S.-based staff and teams. As CMMB's representative in-country, you have overall responsibility and accountability for CMMB's programs, finances, assets and legal standing in South Sudan.

Responsibilities

Leadership

- Lead the implementation of strategic initiatives and mentor staff and partners through organizational change.
- Foster the development of a country-level organizational culture, focusing on strategy execution, high impact programming, and accountability, as well as innovation, permanent learning and improvement.
- Cultivate and motivate staff with a culture of innovation, excellence, and continual learning and overall institutional improvement.
- Lead and model the central tenets of our mission in all aspects of institutional operation, from staff interactions to program implementation, and from partner collaborations to the treatment of beneficiaries.
- Develop partnership relationships and ensure we have good business intelligence related to funding opportunities and security management.

Programmatic and Technical Management

- Work closely with our CMMB US office in developing and implementing CHAMPS programs in South Sudan, supporting their development with detailed proposals, ensuring high-quality program logic that can be feasibly delivered within proposed local context. This will also include maximizing integration with governmental, multilateral, and bilateral and other grant portfolios, as possible.
- Ensure that our CMMB-managed health programs have the appropriate technical staff to lead programmatic activities, overseeing program staff and providing technical and program management input, as appropriate.
- Coordinates with partners and leads and manages our in-country staff to ensure programs meet their project goals, objectives and targets.
- Ensure consistent program monitoring and evaluation activities, including necessary site visits, to measure and report, on a timely basis, project and program outcomes. Share success stories with CMMB globally for communications purposes.
- Manage volunteer placements and programmatic grants, as well as any pharmaceutical donations.
- Lead our overall CHAMPS implementation, project management, and monitoring and evaluation processes in South Sudan.
- Serve as Principal Investigator (PI) in projects where requested.

Human Resources Management

- Support, encourage and help build up the capacity of the on-site program coordinators and managers.
- Provide leadership of all country operations, establishing a management team and reporting roles for needed levels of program and staff management.
- Ensure CMMB South Sudan operates with local labor requirements.

Financial Management

- Ensure the prudent use of donor resources, ensuring all expenditures comply with rules and regulations.
- With the assistance of the Finance Team, ensure all budgets are tracked consistently and financial reports are accurate and timely, and are consistent with donor requirements.
- Identify cost-savings, where feasible, and plan strategically for financial resource use.

Qualifications

You have at least 8-10 years' management experience, including 5 years' experience successfully managing donor grants achieving satisfactory donor evaluations. You have a university degree in public health or international development, and you may also have a Masters' degree in a related field, which is desirable. You have excellent leadership and negotiation skills with experience in a conflict zone, such as in South Sudan. Experience with government agencies, NGO and civil society partners, is highly preferred.

Your superior technical knowledge of humanitarian efforts, emergency relief and/or health systems strengthening, maternal and child health, nutrition and water and sanitation in a range of contexts is what sets you apart. You have sound technical knowledge of leading public health issues in South Sudan, including anemia, malnourishment, and maternal and child health. Your track record of having senior-level experience in managing maternal and child health projects is excellent. Community-based rehabilitation experience is desired, as is experience managing additional health systems projects.

You are a strategic thinker and at the same time you are analytical, results-oriented and have excellent prioritization and multi-tasking skills to work well while under pressure to meet deadlines. You have clear and systematic thinking and discipline in documentation that demonstrates good judgment, expert problem solving, and creativity. You also have good knowledge of financial systems and accounting.

You have proven results in business development, including partnership development and "investment" or grant making in the relief and/or development sector. You know how to deal with change, and present ideas that motivate staff to strive for increased mission success. You are interested and have experience in coaching and developing staff, you have the talent to gain the trust of others and foster collaboration relationships, and demonstrated ability to model team work behaviors and team building skills. You have an established track record of good business judgment and financial acumen, including respect for ethics and fiscal stewardship. You are aware of international nonprofit healthcare challenges, current issues and sources of technical support and partnerships.

You believe in CMMB, where we're going, and what we can do together to achieve Healthier Lives Worldwide.
